PREFACE.

FEW classes of records are better known to the genealogist than those which are styled the Royalist Composition Papers. This is doubtless due in no small measure to the fact that they relate almost wholly to those who suffered severely for their loyalty to King Charles the First. That they are readily consulted, by means of good indexes, has also increased their popularity with those who have access to the Public Record Office. The Royalist Composition Papers are the Records of the Committee for compounding with Delinquents, as those who took the part of the King in the great rebellion, or who professed the Roman Catholic religion, were styled by the Parliamentary party. This committee continued to exist from 1644 to 1657, during which time, to quote Mrs. Everett Green, they obtained "from the delinquents themselves—

1. A confession of their delinquency.
2. A pledge of adherence to the present Government.
3. A full account on oath of their possessions, real and personal.

Whereupon a legal report was made, and they were admitted to compound in proportions, according to their guilt; half the estate was exacted from any delinquent Member of Parliament; one-sixth from those who had taken part either in the former or later war; two-sixths or one-third from those who had been active in both wars, etc. Those who were in cities that surrendered on articles of war compounded according to the tenor of those articles."

The fines that were thus imposed by the committee, it is said, amounted to upwards of £1,304,957. But it is to be noted that this amount, large as it was, did not represent the loss sustained by the King's supporters. Many were not allowed to even compound, and their estates were wholly forfeited, as was the case also with those who had fled the country.

The Royalist Composition Papers are of the greatest interest and value in elucidating the family history, and ascertaining the actual landed and personal property of individuals during the period of the Commonwealth. The original papers are now arranged and bound up in two series, and are referred to by manuscript Indexes. The First Series consists of 7,300 sets of papers, bound in 113 folio volumes. It comprises the correspondence and orders of the Commissioners for sequestration and sale of the estates of the royalist nobility and gentry. The first portion of this series is arranged alphabetically, under the names of the Compounders ; then come the miscellaneous Petitions and Orders ; and these again are followed by the Letters and Reports in a County arrangement.

The Second Series, of 3,634 sets of papers, bound in 54 folio volumes, is especially valuable. In these will be found the original particulars given in on oath of the estates and personal property of those royalists who were permitted to compound on payment of a fine, and the amount of the Compositions so levied on them by the Commissioners.

In addition to the preceding, there are two very large volumes of "E[illegible] of Particulars of Delinquents' Estates, Real and Personal" [G 55, 56], with an Index Nominum [G 57]; and also two similar Entry-books, containing Reports on Delinquents' Estates and Fines levied thereon [G 53, 54], with an Index to both at the end of the second volume [G 54]. Duplicate copies of the original particulars are furnished in these registers. Two volumes belonging to the same Commissioners, containing Surveys of Estates during the years 1652 and 1653 [G 58, 59], are deserving of especial notice, and will certainly repay a careful examination.

In addition to the Indices Nominum there is also a valuable Index Locorum, which is arranged under counties, and will be found exceedingly useful by those who are more interested in topography than genealogy, and the Editor looks forward to the time when he may be enabled to print this as well.

In Mr. Walford D. Selby's volume on Lancashire and Cheshire Records, issued by the Record Society, is a detailed account of the Royalist Composition Papers, to which the reader is indebted for most of the foregoing particulars. Mr. Selby, it should be noted, also gives extracts from the county Indexes to persons and places so far as regards Lancashire and Cheshire.

The modern Index Nominum to the Royalist Composition Papers fills four folio volumes, three of which contain the references to the First Series, and the last those to the Second Series. In the present volume the two series have been combined, a convenience which will be readily appreciated by the searcher. The proofs have been carefully read, as they came from the press, with the manuscript in the Record Search-room, and, when necessary, the references have been checked with the original documents.

The number of references in each page of this volume averages upwards of 250, and the total number cannot be less than 45,000. Consequently, the four manuscript volumes will include between one hundred and thirty-five thousand and one hundred and forty thousand references.
